

08|商談後フォローメール(当日夜／翌日)

48時間が勝負。VJTMの成果は会期中ではなく会期後に決まる。
その場で約束した宿題を、必ず1行目に再掲する。これが他社との差になる。

テンプレA|見積・具体案件に進んだ相手(最優先)

Subject: Nagoya – the [X] we agreed, and when it reaches you

Dear [Name],

Thank you for the twenty minutes. Here is what I took away, so neither of us is working from memory.

WHAT YOU TOLD ME

- [party size, season, existing itinerary – in their own words]
- [the constraint they named]

WHAT I OWE YOU

- [the one deliverable] – with you by [date].

WHAT I NEED FROM YOU

- [one thing only]

Two things I said at the table and want in writing. Our commission is 15%, shown as a net rate beside retail on every quote, and anything marked "at cost" – hotels, admissions, yabusame – carries no commission for either of us. Quotes are held for fourteen days.

If [date] is later than you need it, say so and I will move it.

[First name] – thank you for holding the bow. Most people put it down after a second. You didn't.

Subject: Nagoya, when you're ready – and one thing you might use before then

Dear [Name],

Thank you for your time at VJTM. You didn't have a live enquiry for Central Japan, and I'd rather not invent one for you.

So here is the only thing I'll ask. When a client asks for something in Japan that your usual suppliers can't place – a real dojo rather than a demonstration, a craft studio that isn't a souvenir shop, a day that isn't a temple – write to me. Even if it isn't Nagoya. I chair the network that most of Central Japan's inbound operators belong to, and I would rather be useful once than sell you something you don't need.

One line, any time, and I'll answer within a day.

[a single specific sentence about what they told you]

売り込まないのが正解。この層に商品を送ると読まれずに終わる。
「困ったときに思い出される一社」になるほうが、長い目で価値が高い。

テンプレC|FAM trip・再商談・視察に進んだ相手

Subject: Nagoya in [month] – two dates that work on my side

Dear [Name],

Thank you for VJTM – and for saying yes to coming to Nagoya.

Two dates that work here: [date 1] and [date 2]. Either way, the shape would be:

- Morning – kyudo, in the dojo. You shoot, not watch.
- Afternoon – [second element, chosen for their market]
- Evening – dinner with [partner], so you meet the people who would actually run your clients' day.

One night in Nagoya. You can be back in Tokyo by lunchtime the next day.

We cover the programme; you cover flights and accommodation – and I'll book the hotel at our rate so it isn't a project for you.

Which date?

テンプレD|団体レート待ちの相手(10社向け・10/2一斉)

Subject: The group rates I promised at VJTM

Dear [Name],

At VJTM I said the group rate table would reach you within a week of the show. Here it is.

[table: 7-24 / 25-40 / 41-60 pax]

Three things worth knowing:

- ・ The per-person experience rates and the guide rate are fixed and do not move in peak season.
- ・ The coach is quoted against your routing rather than a flat daily rate, because distance and driver hours genuinely differ. The figure above is for [routing].
- ・ Cherry blossom and autumn are the weeks when coaches run out in this region. Our transport partner holds vehicles for those dates. If you are building a March or November 2027 programme, the useful conversation is now rather than in spring.

Held for fourteen days. Tell me the dates and I'll hold longer.
